

eClosing just got a whole lot easier!

AutoPrep™ e-enables ANY third-party documents for eSignature, eNotary and eClosing

From a strategic perspective, DocMagic's AutoPrep technology will allow any lender, utilizing documents from ANY source, direct access to our premier eClosing solution. AutoPrep categorizes, tags and barcodes documents, recognizing signature, initial and notary regions, and e-enables any third-party loan documents for eSignature, eNotary and eClosing processes. This opens the door for lenders to transition more quickly to an eClosing workflow, bringing efficiency, consistency and user experience enhancements.

Leveraging the benefits of artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning technology, AutoPrep automates the closing process. The technology automates fundamental labor-intensive processes, mainly the visual identification of signing regions and manual preparation required by most eClosing platforms. If your documents are not e-enabled for eSign, eDelivery, eNotary or eClosing, this technology gives you instant access to those abilities.

AutoPrep has the ability to access deep stores of document metadata and is capable of testing and automation, employing intelligent document recognition as well as pattern and trend detection for continuously improved decisions over time.

AutoPrep™ goes beyond basic optical character recognition (OCR) technology.

Basic OCR technology relies primarily on reading and recognizing documents, which can be slow and error-prone. AutoPrep employs intelligent document recognition to access extensive document metadata, stored in DocMagic's rich form database, enabling pattern and trend detection for continuously improved decisioning over time.

AI and machine learning allow for continuous improvement as they're applied to more documents.

AutoPrep allows organizations to scale for capacity and respond more quickly to market fluctuation. Fewer mistakes, and the resulting fixes, lead to an improved customer experience and a faster, more efficient eClosing experience. Like all of DocMagic's solutions, AutoPrep integrates seamlessly with the rest of our technology while offering a robust API for simple integration with other third-party systems.